

How to Clear Google Photos as Default Picture Viewer

If you have used the Google Photos app (screenshot 1) as the default Muncity Android photo viewer, you may have noticed that the app can get into a state where it displays the same photo repeatedly, despite attempts to preview different pictures.

I have not been able to repeat this behavior, so please let the group know if you discover how this can occur.

In the meantime, users can clear Google Photo as the default viewer, then select a different default app. This is done by pressing Clear Defaults in Google+. Go to Settings | Manage Applications | Google+ and the button should appear (screenshot 2).

This is not intuitive, so it is important to note the solution in case users run into this situation.

